

Indiana Classical Conference - Spring 2015 Meeting
March 6th- 7th
Earlham College

Call for Papers

Dear Colleague,

It is time again to start putting together the program for the annual spring meeting of the Indiana Classical Conference. We here at Earlham College are excited to host the event for the first time. Kirk Ormand, Professor of Classics at Oberlin College, will be delivering the keynote address entitled “Perversion in Antiquity: Seneca, Foucault and the History of Psychiatric Reasoning.”

The Indiana Classical Conference has served the interests of Greek and Roman enthusiasts since 1963, and we are excited to continue that tradition with a robust meeting in the spring.

We welcome proposals for talks (typically 15 minutes) from people at all levels. Past speakers have ranged from undergraduate students to graduate students, middle school teachers, high school teachers, and college and university professors. We also welcome papers that address a wide array of interests in the ancient world. Past sessions have focused on:

- ancient drama
- archaeology
- the Classical tradition
- epic poetry
- Greek and Latin pedagogy
- religion

It is also the tradition in our spring meeting to reserve one panel for future colleagues to share their research with us. Thus, we especially welcome proposals from undergraduate and graduate students or recommendations from high school teachers who would like to bring a group of their students to share a particularly interesting project they have worked on.

If you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact Maxwell Paule (paulema@earlham.edu).

For consideration on the program, please submit the form below by February 13th, 2015

Annual Meeting of the Indiana Classical Conference
March 6th – March 7th, 2015 Earlham College

Call for Papers

First Name: _____ Last Name: _____

School/Business Affiliation: _____

Mailing address: _____

Telephone: (_____) _____ – _____ home cell work

Email: _____@_____._____

What is the primary audience for your paper/presentation? elementary secondary college/university other: _____

How would you categorize your paper/presentation?

culture history/archaeology language pedagogy other: _____

Title: _____

Expected length of talk: _____

Brief Description of your session (N.B. – this will be used for the abstract in the program):

Specific technology needs:

All proposals must be submitted by February 13th, 2015. Email proposals to paulema@earlham.edu